“ Andy was in such great shape. I remember him going for a bicycle ride with his daughter and her family. He just kept riding down the bike path. Eventually, he agreed to turn back. The younger people were tired.

“ I was an environmental intern at Maine Water Improvement Commission working for Andy. As a student at UMaine, I assisted in his research for a masters degree. That is a handsome picture and not like my minds eye remembers. I saw his death notice in the UMaine Alumni notice.

“ The world is diminished with the loss of a warm, wonderful and fun man. Andy was a gentleman and a brilliant engineer. He loved to give back to the community through service. He believed in the ideals of the Elks: helping others and making friends as he lived. Andy loved to be productive and to make a difference in the world. He always had a story to tell or a joke to share. In so many ways Andy and Bev helped those they knew who need help. I know because I was the recipient of their kindness. Andy help me get my first job forty years ago and was a treasured friend and mentor. God bless Andy and his family for all he did in his life. We can all hope to leave such a legacy.

I was really saddened by the news of "Andy's" passing. I have shared many discussions with Andy at Rotary over the years. I found him extremely engaging at all times and surely understand why he was so successful as a sales person with his outgoing manner and friendly approach to all. He made Rotary projects such as the OSU football shuttle and other fund raising activities so much fun. Andy was a real gentlemen and will be greatly missed by not only me but his many other friends.

Andy was my Brother in Law and I don't remember a time without him in the family because he married my sister when I was two years old. He was a awesome guy and a wonderful husband and father. We lived on opposite sides of the country for the last 50+ years, but still managed to go skiing a couple of times, as well as few other memorable trips and vacations. He had great insight about business and life in general and I could always count on him for advice. Andy well be missed by many.

Miss you alot Dad, but that's the way it's supposed to be I guess. I didn't realize that you would become larger than life somehow, but I guess God knew that's what I needed. ❤️
