“ I have fond memories of my Aunt Barbara and my Uncle Jack. We would spend Thanksgiving and Christmas with them almost every year when I was growing up in Ventura, California. She was a wonderful cook and always prepared a wonderful feast. They had three great sons who I still see from time to time. The youngest one David was a gourmet chef and also helped prepare the Holiday meals. She lived for several years with her son Jeff on Orcas Island in Washington in the Puget Sound. I visited them several times and had a great time. Her son Russ was also a lot of fun to visit in Corvallis, Oregon. I can still picture Jack and Barbara singing in the choir at College Methodist church in Ventura. She will be greatly missed. Scott Carson.
