

Bernadine Cornelia Strik

April 29, 1962 - April 14, 2023

Bernadine Cornelia Strik, 60, passed away on April 14, 2023 in Corvallis, OR. She was born on April 29, 1962 in Holland, and is survived by her husband, Neil Bell, daughters Shannon and Nicole Bell, and her parents, Gerald and Christine Strik.

Bernadine had numerous professional accomplishments during her time at Oregon State University and beyond, but will be most remembered by her family for being the most extraordinary wife, mother, and daughter. She leaves behind a legacy of academic and professional prowess, exceptional baking skills, a love for the outdoors and hiking, and has passed down a love of nature and the environment.

“ I was shocked to read of the death of Bernadine in the Statesman Journal today. Bernadine was such a huge resource when we were growing hardy kiwi's as the first commercial grower in Oregon. I know that besides the beautiful daughters she raised that her legacy will live on in all the people she helped with information and encouragement in propagating blueberries, and kiwis.

“ Dear Gerry and Christine, I am shocked and saddened to read of your daughter's passing. Our family remembers all of you so fondly, especially your sweet Bernadine. We have such wonderful memories of our years in Qualicum Beach, BC, Canada. I am so proud of Bernie in learning of her tremendous success and contributions to the agricultural world. An incredible woman. As the saying goes...the apple doesn't fall from the tree. You certainly did a stellar job in raising a rockstar ❤️ Thinking of you, Trisha, Bill, and Chico Newell.

“ I have had the pleasure of interacting with her when I attend the NCCC212 meetings and found her an incredibly warm and gracious person. Always friendly and helpful with words of wisdom to share. She will be missed. My prayers and condolences to her family and friends.

“ I knew Bernadine through my husband, Rod, and thr blueberry world. Mine was not a professional relationship but a personal one. Bernadine loved shoes! I think fondly of a trip to Spain that included many fun adventures but when “we girls” went out shopping, Bernadine looked for shoes and might have mentioned that she had a shoe habit.... I think she went home with no less than four pair!
