“ When I joined OSU Extension in 1992 as a nutrition volunteer, we were told food safety was so important. Our faculty trainers were Pat Aune and Carolyn Cannon. They had Margaret Lewis come and give us "hands-on" training in food safety and additional "how to" training on sharing simple nutrition messages with homemakers. Margaret made it seem simple and doable with her years of experience. She was one of the first OSU Extension trainers I had as a volunteer. Margaret was an excellent trainer as she shared her years of wisdom and patience to repeat "pearls of wisdom" that were part of her everyday protocol. I will always be grateful that Margaret made time to say yes to training us!
