“ Richard I can't say I'm sorry you're gone. You destroyed my children and myself. The one that was supposed to love and protect us hurt us the worst. I think you took the easy way out. I have so much hurt and anger in it's consumed my life. I've been told I need to forgive you for all the horrible things u did to my children and myself to be able to let go of all the anger and hurt I have inside me that has consumed me but I can't I can't forgive you not even after your death. May god have mercy on your sole. But I don't think your with god. You don't deserve to be.

“ We've been friends for so long, created so many memories together I still can't believe you are gone and I miss you every damn day. So many times I've seen or heard something that I want to share with you, went to text or call you and then remember.....I can't. You didn't deserve all the shit life threw at you. You were my best friend and I will love you forever. I hope you always knew how much you meant to me and still do. Till we meet again.....

“ It was never an easy life for you.. even though we didn't see eye to eye on many things, I saw you grow and give effort where others wouldn't. You work ethic at every job you ever had was something to admire and emulate. Everything about your passing and what led to it is an absolute tragedy. May you Rest In Peace.

How did he die? I was trying to find out if he was still in jail and found this. I would really like to know what happened. He was my brother in law at one time, when I was still a child. He victimized me and his own step child as well. He was abusive, violent, and sadistic.
