“ You will truly be missed girl! Your life on earth was cut way too short, but God needed you more and we are all so blessed to have had the opportunity to have you cross paths with our lives. I am so sorry for the family losing such a precious person anytime, but during a traditional holiday time of happiness and blessings for family is truly so heartbreaking. May you all remember with a toast and smile and a possible a laugh the wonderful memories that she made with each and every one of you..... she is watching and smiling at you all! May your new guardian angel give you the guidance that you need to keep you on track for your dreams to come true in times of true need.....
