“ I met Urs about 10 years ago when he became my computer fixer. When my husband, Norm, was alive and would go on line and leave us vulnerable to viruses, Urs always came to rescue us. Finally he told Norm in no uncertain terms to quit his quests for buying ruins in Europe. (Norm's illness had caused him to do some unusual things.) Norm actually did. Urs was brilliant man, and a great computer fixer but more than that, a very patient mentor teaching me how to care for my electronics. I am forever grateful to him.
