

William M. Lightner

December 9, 1961 - November 4, 2014

William Lightner, age 52, died Tuesday, November 04, 2014, at his home in Monroe. Arrangements are pending.

Tribute Wall

PS

“ He was my baby brother, and I hope he knew how much I loved him. Charlie and I made trips to visit him and the family when they were in Montana. He also helped me break my horse that we got from his father-in-law Juan. He ruined his nice leather jacket on that one. He just smiled thru it, and said it saved his shoulder. He also was a big supporter when our son was killed. He always stayed positive and didn't let things get him down, even thru all the trials he went thru. He will be missed greatly.

Patty Steng - November 21, 2014 at 07:17 PM

LC

“ I will never forget his love for my peanut butter cookies. I remember visiting him in the hospital after his surgery on his head and he was in so much pain but he wanted me to bake him my peanut butter cookies and I did. I also will always remember when April, Mikey, and Jena were young and we just got all the presents wrapped and under the tree and Bill was so excited for them to open them he ran through their house with a bell trying to wake the kids up so they could open the gifts...lol...he was a big part of so many lives. He will always hold a place in my heart as more than a brother in law but as another brother. RIP Bill

Iorna Coyne - November 21, 2014 at 01:31 PM

TL

“ I can remember so much about my uncle Bill, most are in Montana. On one hunting trip we were set out and the truck broke down and all I wanted to do is eat the beef jerky he brought. Another is when we went elk hunting, we were at York Lake by Helena walking and this guy yells at us that we are on private property. Just as we start heading back to the truck a huge herd of elk ran about a 100 yards in front of us, Bill was so mad.

Travis Lightner - November 21, 2014 at 12:07 PM